Asian Journal of Medical Technology (AJMedTech) is set to be an open access, multi-disciplinary, peer-reviewed journal. Due to a very limited number of quality technology journals in medicine, we decided to establish a new technology journal focusing on medicine. This journal will consider publishing all articles related to Emerging Technology in Medicine & Healthcare, comprising but not limited to work in areas of Medical Image, Signal and Data Processing, clinical application of new technology like Artificial Intelligence and other related health technology, promoting independent living and any areas where the application of technology in medicine can be applied.
